ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS

Was Disposed of By the City Council at Its Meeting Last Week.

MET FRIDAY NIGHT.

Partial Settlement Made For the Main Street Iron Bridge.

The city council met Friday night in regular session, with all of the members present. The budget of accounts amounted to $410.75 and the bills were paid, having been approved by the Finance Committee.

The Terry Coal and Coke Co. was paid $13.49 balance due on a carload of coal.

Work House Keeper Geo. D. McCord was allowed his monthly bill of $44.42.

The Vincennes Bridge Co., was paid $700 on its $3,315 contract and given a note of $1,105. The full settlement was deferred until the concrete floor is put in the bridge. The purchase of inside guard railings was authorized at an expense of $350.

A change was allowed in the season license of Guy Cannon, on Seventh street, his license being extended to permit two rooms instead of one to be used, with a door between.

The application of S. H. Warfield, col., to open a pool room in an upstairs room on Sixth street, was refused.

Considerable time was spent in discussing the repairs on the city building and combination chandeliers were ordered put in the council chamber.

Several important matters referred to committees were postponed until the next meeting, the committees not being ready to report. The usual monthly reports of the heads of departments were submitted and filed in the regular way.

CUMBERLAND

May Discontinue Telephone Service at Fredonia.

News comes to this office, from second hands, that the Cumberland Telephone Co. may discontinue its service at Fredonia, Crittenden county, on account of damages sustained by the night riders last Saturday night. Our informant got it straight that the Cumberland's service at Fredonia did not pay before the night riders' depredations, but it did not feel like taking out the service. Since its loss of $1,000 last Friday night there is but little doubt that the crippled service will be altogether abandoned.

DEAD IN BED

Sudden End of Distinguished Eddyville Lawyer's Life.

Judge T. J. Watkins, the leading lawyer of the Eddyville bar, was found dead in his bed Saturday morning, from a blood clot on his brain, caused by a cancerous growth on his face. He was 70 years old and had two brothers who became chief justices, one of Louisiana and one of Mississippi.

He is survived by two sisters, one of whom, Mrs. White, was with him during his last days, and two daughters, Mrs. R. S. Lander, of Eddyville, and Mrs. Edwin Robb, of Perryville, Mo., whose husband had been for years a Congressman from his district.

Sues for Damages.

Richard Leavell has sued J. H. Pierce for $800 damages, alleging violation of a rental contract.

RE-APPOINTED FOURTH TERM

Postmaster Jno. W. Breathitt Gets Another Endorsement.

HAS FOUR MORE YEARS.

Nomination Sent to The Senate by The President.

Postmaster John W. Breathitt was yesterday again named as postmaster in this city for a term of four years. This will be Maj. Breathitt's fourth term in the office. He was appointed for one term by President Harrison and has been in office nine years under the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations. His last term expired in January, 1907, and he has held on until the present time. The new term will be for four years.

Maj. Breathitt's re-appointment gives much satisfaction to the people, irrespective of politics.

FIRE MARSHAL HERE

Surveying The Situation as He Finds it.

Fire Marshal W. F. Neikirk arrived in the city Saturday unexpectedly and is still here familiarizing himself with the situation. His arrival created something of a stir and those opposed to an investigation at once began to exert influence to prevent or postpone an investigation at this time. Mr. Neikirk has not yet begun an investigation and it is not known at this writing whether or not any official steps will be taken this week.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES

J. W. Bohanan Asks $500 From I. C. Road.

J. W. Bohanan, who resides near Longview, has filed suit here against the I. C. railroad company for $500 damages. He alleges that he purchased a ticket at Fidelity for Hopkinsville, for the purpose of coming here to see his grandchild who was ill, and that the train failed to stop at Fidelity, although properly signaled, and that in consequence he was forced to walk to the city, a distance of twelve miles, in the cold and mud.

Weighed 1,825 Pounds.

Mr. James Ratliff, the far famed Caldwell county stock man, had weighed on the city scales Wednesday a bull, which tipped the scales at 1,825 pounds. A fine showing for our county. The beast is an excellent specimen of the character, and Mr. Ratliff is ahead of all competitors in the line of remarkable cattle raising in this section.—Princeton Leader.

Horrible Murder.

Elbin Newby, a lumberman, shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide at Valley View, Ky. Mrs. Newby had been up all night with a sick child and Newby is supposed to have killed her because breakfast was not ready when he came home. Helpless neighbors across the river saw Newby kill the woman and drag her body to the house, where later they found the body of Newby and a freezing and dying child.

False Report Corrected.

It has come to my ears that a report is in circulation to the effect that I have sold my tobacco crop out side of the association. Such is not the case. I am prizing my tobacco and putting it in the association and have bought most of the crops of my share hands to put them in also. I have been a member of the association from its organization.

R. F. RIVES.

SUNDAY FIRE BY RIDERS

A. H. Cardin, of Crittenden, Latest Victim of Masked Mob.

LOSS PROBABLY $15,000.

Town of Fredonia Kept Under Guard While Gang Operated.

Fredonia, Ky., Feb. 10.—Night riders destroyed the tobacco factory and warehouse of H. H. Cardin, at View, in Crittenden, six miles from this city, Sunday morning after invading this place and putting the telephone lines out of commission. Forty-five thousand pounds of tobacco were destroyed.

Thirty-five thousand pounds in the factory were the property of Buckner & Dunkerson, of Louisville, for which firm Mr. Cardin was the agent. The remaining 10,000 pounds was the property of Mr. Cardin and his tenants.

Mr. Cardin was the populist nominee for Governor several years ago. Cardin and his family were not at home, they having gone to Evansville to attend the Dunkerson funeral.

The riders left in a northerly direction at 4 o'clock. Seventy-two of them watered their horses at Saratoga, seven miles from Eddyville. It is supposed to be the same band which burned the Bennett warehouse and distillery and whipped Henry Bennett and William Groves at Dvunburgh. The riders are supposed to be from Crittenden, Trigg and Lyon counties.

The night riders claimed that Mr. Cardin had been buying independent tobacco while he is a member of the association.

The town of Fredonia was kept under guard and in one store the clerk was required to build a fire for the guards to warm by. Telephone wires were cut. The loss was estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000. There was $5,000 insurance.

Wilbrite-McKenzie.

County Clerk Campbell issued license Saturday for the marriage of A. J. Wilbrite and Malvina McKenzie.

JOHNSTON MAY GIVE UP OFFICE

Likely Not to Resume Adjutant Generalship.

CAPT. HUGHES IN CHARGE

Leaves For the South to Remain Until After April 1.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 10.—Adj. Gen. P. P. Johnston, who was appointed by Gov. Willson as Adjutant General for the time being until he could select some man from the State Guard to serve permanently, may not return to Kentucky after his vacation in the South and it may be necessary for Gov. Willson to name his permanent Adjutant General by April 1. Gen. Johnston is expected back by April 1.

Capt. W. H. Hughes has been detailed by the War Department to serve in Kentucky for four years and it will be his duty to put the State Guard of Kentucky in first-class condition. Under an old law the War Department is authorized to assign to each State a retired army officer whose duty shall be to supervise the work of the guard and put it in condition, on the footing of the regular army. Kentucky had never had such an officer assigned here and Gov. Willson applied for an officer soon after he went into office.

Capt. Hughes said that the State Guard of Kentucky would have to be put on a plane with the regular army and that it would be his work to do this. He said he understood that the guard was not in the best condition and it would be his first work to get it into condition and then to put it on the same footing as the regular army service. He believes that his work will require time, but believes that it can be done and that Kentucky can have one of the best guards in the country.

With regard to the policy of the department while he is in charge, on the subject of the night riders, Capt. Hughes said he would make no changes and would not do any investigating himself. He said the investigation of the raids is in the hands of the Fire Marshal, and he has nothing to do with it until he asked for troops.

MOUNTAIN MEN

Now on Duty in Guarding The City.

The Middleboro soldiers arrived Saturday morning and after some delay were quartered in the McDaniel building on the corner of Main and Sixth streets. Maj. Geo. W. Albrecht is in command and the detail consists of Lieut. Stair and twelve men. They are picked men who have had army experience.

Maj. Albrecht was in command of the detail that captured Frank Ball, who created a reign of terror around Middleboro and was pursued into Virginia. Lieut. Stair is a young officer of soldierly bearing and his men are a fine looking set of young soldiers. Their service will be altogether at night, assisting the police and special guards in protecting property.

Following is a partial list of the members of the detail not having arrived when the list was made:

Debris.
Only a leaf from the Tree of Life Dropped to the flow of a passing stream.

This is symbolic of man's estate.
This is the whole of his mortal dream!
Merely a bit of debris, the leaf
Trailing along in the seven days—
Swirling along as the Fates decree,
Creature of being, the bubble rides.

Now there is sunshine and mossy banks, Nectar of springs and the scent of roses.
Only the voyager skins the wave.

Part of a world that is fair and sweet,
Happy, it glides with the fairy band.
If they be elfe of a fortune fair, Joyous it glides through their fairyland.

But it the fairies that guide are impes,
Born of a world that is cursed and sore,
Wet and bedraggled and smogged with slime.

Straggle it stands by the boy's dream
Fifth and the storm of an adverse fate.
Beat on the leaf through the reeking fog.

Then comes the rain and the bonds are loosed.
Pressing the emulsion to take its way.

Only a leaf from the Tree of Life
Tossed to the sun or the blinding rain—
Child of a river it must explore.

Creator of happiness, care and pain:
Oneship of Destiny: wait of Time:
Swirling along in a passing dream—
This is symbolic of man's estate.

Uncle Zed's Dog.
Richard Harding Davidson, editor and proprietor of the Cirox County Chronicle, was perusing over a list of delinquent subscribers and wondering if the ghost could possibly have spirit enough to walk Saturday night, when "Uncle" Zed Hopkins came in.

It was plain to be seen that "Uncle" Zed was mad. He seated himself in the spare sanctum chair, set his doughty elm cane upright between his knees, built a "meeting-house" of his fingers and began deliberately:

"Editor Davidson, I've took 't Chronicle nigh onto ten years, an' I ain't ast many favors of ye, but I've come now to have ye waling those Higginases that killed my dog Shep!"

At this juncture "Uncle" Zed wiped his eyes on a red bandanna handkerchief which he then wound around one hand, and continued:

"I don't allow to have no trouble with my neighbors, hut—"
"Wait a minute," said Editor Richard Harding Davidson, reaching for his pencil and pad. "Wait a minute, Uncle Zed."

"Uncle Zed edged toward the editor, expectantly and waited. Mr. Davidson continued:

"Now I'll read as I write and when you don't like it, you say so."

"All right, Mr. Editor," pliously assented "Uncle" Zed with due appreciation.

"Some low miscreant," read the editor, scribbling, "whose heart is about the size of a flea and whose head must be shaped like a tack, stretiously, maliciously and with malice forethought, shot that fine, big family dog—"

"Uncle" Zed's face fell and his lip quivered as he interrupted:

"His name was 'Shep,' Mr. Davidson. 'Shep' was his name!"

"All right—that fine, big, family dog, Shep, owned by 'Uncle' Zed Hopkins Saturday night. A man that would shoot a dog like Shep is the greenest scum of the earth and hanging is too good for him!"

"How's that, 'Uncle' Zed?"

"Good, mighty good!" testified the patriarch, rubbing his hands gleefully and squirming in the creaking chair,
"but ain't ye goin' to mention no names?"

"Why, yes, I might, Mr. Hopkins; that is if you desire it!"

"Well, I ain't insistin' none, but I've took yer paper a long time, Mr.
Davidson, a long time!"

"It's our palnaty duty in this connection," resumed the editor, "to announce we have among us a family so lost to common decency and the mandates of society as to kill an innocent and unassuming dog—"

"By Jingo, that's great," interposed
"Uncle" Zed with joy in his voice;
"that'll make 'em cringe some, I guess. Go ahead, editor, go ahead!"

"As to kill an innocent and unassuming dog, and, to make a long story short, the name is Higginas!"

"Uncle" Zed brought his cane to the floor with an enthusiastic clatter.

"Hurrah! Say, editor, you're a trump. You're a man with th' courage of his convictions. You're a—what's that? Sign it if you like!"

"Uncle" Zed arose hastily from his chair, his surprise paramount:

"Me sign it!"

"You certainly don't want me to assume responsibility for it, Mr. Hopkins. My dog hasn't been killed," expostulated the editor with a smile in his eye that "Uncle" Zed did not see.

"Thunder in the inter-tune! Great fool editors I ever see you are the want!" shouted "Uncle" Zed, waving his cane, his bandanna and his whiskers all at one and the same time, as he stumped away.

And the next day Editor Richard Harding Davidson was notified by mail to stop "Uncle" Zed's paper.

But he didn't do it. A country editor knows a thing or two about human nature. "Uncle" Zed would have been really angry had he complied with the order.

England's Dog Population.

It is estimated that there are 3,000,000 dogs in Great Britain.

His Rat Trap.
 Omaha has a youngster who is an amateur electrician, and who has a very ingenious way of killing rats. The young rodent is caught in an ordinary trap, the bottom of which is covered with tin. The Omaha boy has a small dynamo of his own manufacture and one wire connecting with the dynamo is fastened to the tin lining of the trap and another is thrust into the prisoner's cell. The well-known propensity of a caged rat to gnaw its way out, and so he gnaws the wire between his teeth. In so doing he makes the mistake of his life. The circuit is complete, his jaws close on the wire with a death grip, and without a squeak, and almost without a quiver, he passes into a state where he will bother mankind no more.

Rapid and Good Work.

A gang of Great Northern railroad engineers and platelayers one recent Sunday gave a remarkable display of rapid bridge-building, according to an English newspaper. A bridge outside Harrington station over the Midland railway's line had to be widened, and two enormous girders were constructed. During the week supports for the girders were built under the old bridge, and as soon as the heavy traffic of the Saturday night had been dealt with gangs of men, working in relays, pulled up the rails, demolished the old bridge, and both the debris and the permanent way was in order again.

Tides to Generate Electricity.

It is reported that a Hamburg joint stock company has purchased a large tract of land along the mouth of the Elbe at Cuxhaven where power works are to be erected. The action of the ebb and flow of the tide is to be employed in generating electrical energy to be used in factories about to be established. The works will also furnish electrical power to the town of Cuxhaven and other towns in the vicinity. The daily capacity of the plant will reach 14,000 horse power. Tests are said to have established the feasibility of this method of generating electricity.

Portable Steel Fan.

A portable steel fan, with kerosene oil as a motive power, has been introduced in Bombay by a German inventor, according to Popular Mechanic. The new fan is propelled by a small vertical steam engine fed by a kerosene lamp and is particularly available in places where there is no electric current distribution. The outfit is about the size of a small coal stove with an ordinary electric fan on the top of it. The cost of operation for 24 hours is said to be only two cents. The retail price of the fan complete in India is $51.

Historic Engine Wrecked.

The locomotive used to haul logs for the Mason-Dixon Lumber Company at State Line was mixed up in a wreck and reduced to kindling wood recently, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. It was built by the Grant Locomotive works, and sent the Paris exposition in the 80s. It was awarded a gold medal for perfection of construction in steam machinery of its class, and was returned to the United States on the last of the century. It was a facsimile of the medal, reverse and obverse.

NEW RAILROAD

To Be Built Through the Purchase.

Information comes that the branch line that the Louisville and Nashville road has for some time contemplated building, from some point on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad down about Murray or Hazel, in Calloway county, to Wickliffe, in Ballard county, has been definitely decided upon and work on the line will soon be under way.

The statement is made that contractor Arthur, who built the Paducah and Cairo branch of the Illinois Central, is now at Wickliffe to gather in a working force and the needed utensils and that he has contracted to build the line in question.

USE OF LUMBER

Building Operations And The Timber Supply.

Cement and steel and brick and stone are not yet used in sufficient quantities to encourage lumber users to predict the time when the forests will not be called upon to furnish the principal material used in building operations. Notwithstanding the remarkable increase in the use of cement and other fireproof materials, the last report of the building operations in forty-nine of the leading cities of the United States for the year, collected by the Geological Survey, show that 59 per cent were of wooden construction.

Even if the remaining forty-one per cent of the buildings were built of brick, stone and concrete, vast quantities of wood are consumed both in the construction and in the finish, though in latter form, metal is taking the place of wood to a very large extent. The amount of lumber given above does not take into consideration this item at all.

While this percentage is representative of the building industry in the United States, dealers point out that it does not include the large quantities of lumber used for the construction of dwellings, stores and other buildings in the thousands of small cities and towns scattered over the country and not included in the forty-nine cities on which a reckoning was made. In towns and small cities wood is usually the predominant building material and is safe to say that if the statistics had included figures for all places of whatever size, the percentage of wooden construction would have been much greater. These figures, as a rule, are only for the corporate limits, and the suburbs of these cities have each very large amounts to be added. The cost, also, is relatively higher in these cities than in towns near the base of the supply.

In wooden buildings, New York City is at the bottom of the list, though it leads with $18,075 as the average cost of buildings. Except at San Francisco, where abnormal conditions have prevailed since the fire, Boston shows the greatest increase of any of the cities in the total cost of building operations. The average cost of buildings is constantly increasing, having risen over three hundred dollars during the last three years. The average value of a building is given in the report as $2,055.

Lumber is by far the greatest drain on the forests, and the wonderful development of the country during the past decade has called for the use of nearly forty billion board feet a year. The largest quantity ever reported for a single year was for 1906, when thirty-seven and one-half billion feet, with a mill value of $821,151,388, was used. Including the value of the lath and shingles used with this amount, the total value of the wood used for building is brought up to $856,706,513.

The increasing price of lumber and the rapidly increasing use of perfected fireproof system and constructions should have much to do in holding down the amount which the forests are called upon to yield each year, but so far these more substantial materials have not decreased the lumber cut of the nation.

Ex-Premier Franco has left Portugal and is now in France. The burial of King Carlos and his son took place Saturday, without any trouble. The new king has recovered from the wounds received at the time his father and brother were killed Feb. 1.

Capt. Wm. M. Forrest, son of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, the confederate cavalry leader, died Saturday in Memphis. Capt. Forrest was preparing to qualify himself to take the part of his father in "The Clansman" on a European trip next season, when he was stricken with paralysis. He closely resembled his father.

The big tobacco factories are already handling the organization tobacco in this city. The Imperial Tobacco Co. has recently purchased a big shipment of Equity tobacco from Webster county and the American Snuff Co. last week made the first 1908 purchase of Association tobacco from Salesman Buckner, 17 bogheads, at satisfactory prices.

The supporters of Bradley are claiming that he will certainly be elected United States Senator. There are threats to unsettle Democrats and strong intimations that bolting Democrats will, as a last resort, vote for Bradley to defeat Beckham. Representative John Poland made a long speech Friday, giving numerous reasons and quoting much poetry to back up his claim that Kentucky would be benefited by the election of Bradley. He created amusement by appealing to Democrats to vote for Bradley.

Gov. Patterson has appointed Judge Bennett D. Bell, of Gallatin, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee, to fill a vacancy. At the same time Attorney General Robt. L. Peck, of Springfield, was appointed circuit judge and W. M. Brandon, of Dover, was appointed attorney general, a position to which Austin Peay was slated. A Nashville dispatch says that Mr. Peay was turned down because of "dissatisfaction among the association people." This indicates that there is more truth than poetry in the report that Governor Patterson, having become a candidate for re-election, has changed his attitude since his $2500 reward proclamation was made.

GOV. NORRIS

Montana's New Executive a Kentucky Democrat.

Gov. Jos. K. Toole, of Montana, who has been governor of that state 10 of the 18 years that it has been a state, is in failing health and has resigned his office, the resignation to take effect April 1, and has left the state for California for an indefinite stay. Until April 1, Lieut. Gov. Edwin C. Norris will be acting Governor, when he will assume the duties of Governor for the remainder of the term till Jan. 1, 1909. The Anacosta Standard says editorially of the new Governor: "Mr. Norris has been honored by the people of Montana with election to various positions of trust; he has filled every one of them with the utmost integrity, fidelity and ability. He deserves well at the hands of Montana; he has won, by desert, the confidence of the citizens of the State. Without question he will fill the chair of the State's chief executive with credit and with honor."

Gov. Norris was born in Cumberland county, Ky., Aug. 15, 1855, of Virginia stock. He was educated in the Bowling Green schools, graduating in 1886. He taught school and read law and in 1888 went to Dillon, Mont., where he was admitted to the bar in 1889. He was city attorney of Dillon for five years and was elected State Senator in 1896. In 1898 he was elected President of the Senate and for two months was acting Governor during the absence from the state of both the Governor and Lieutenant Governor. He was elected Lieutenant Governor as a Democrat in 1904. Mr. Norris returned to Bowling Green for a bride in 1892. Mrs. Norris, who was Miss Bettie Wilkins, is a sister of Mrs. H. L. McPherson, of this city, whom she frequently visits.

Gov. Toole's parents were both natives of Kentucky, though he was born in Missouri. He is a son-in-law of the noted Gen. Rosecrans.

Only a Cold.

"Only a cold," is a common expression. And so the victim lets it go on, day after day, red eyes, swollen features, lassitude, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, the irritating cough.

In itself a cold may be simply uncomfortable. In its results it is often fatal. Pneumonia, with its enormous fatality; consumption, with its deadly grip; bronchitis, asthma, these and many ailments are often the direct result of a cold.

The patient may have had many colds. They have resulted in nothing serious. But when the system has become weakened by these repeated attacks, when the mucous membranes are in a chronic unhealthy condition, then it is these fatal maladies assert themselves.

This is no greater mistake than to neglect a cold. At its first appearance measures should be taken to relieve it. At this season of the year, when coughs and colds are common, Peruna should be kept constantly in the house. At the first symptom this remedy should be taken. It will soothe the mucous membranes, relieve the irritation, and the cold will gradually disappear. That this has been the experience of many is proven by the hundreds of grateful letters in our files.

Farmers Held For Whipping.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 8.—Charged with an unlawful conspiracy, Marion Farley and Tom Childs, young farmers of Marshall county, were held to answer at their trials before County Judge H. B. Holland at Benton. The court held they had been guilty of "white capping." The accused were alleged to have whipped Steve Whitfield, a negro, who worked on Zeke Holland's farm, and it was charged they were members of a gang organized to drive the negroes out of Marshall county. Farley and Childs were tried under the old klux law.

A ROSE-COLORED ROOM.

White Wood and Furniture a Pleasing Contrast to Pink Walls.

A charming bedroom where the utmost effect of daintiness can be obtained with very practical means is the rose-colored room, but an equally good effect can be secured by using water blue or green in light and agreeable shades, says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. If rose color is preferred, a pleasing tint can be made by a sparing and careful addition of vermilion, or of the scarlet used in carriage painting, to cream white. This means that a small amount of yellow ochre is first added to the white paint and thoroughly incorporated with it before the vermilion or scarlet is added. The woodwork of the room should be painted cream white, and the walls have three coats of pink—the first two considerably darker than the last, as the last is lighter, it gives a misty effect which is very soft and satisfying. After the last coat is well dried a border of cream white should be stenciled at the top of the wall next the ceiling. It may be wide or narrow, as one prefers; but if wide, the lower part of it, for a third of the width, should be faintly or thinly painted, in order to have it blend properly into the wall. It is necessary only to use a full brush at the top and a comparatively empty one at the bottom of the stencil to secure this effect, and even an unskillful workman can do it if the object is explained to him.

If a narrow border is used, what is called a "floating design" may be added to the wall; and this also should be varied by the use of more or less paint in the brush, so that some of the floating forms should look like the mere reflection of the others. The furniture of this room would be preferably cream white enamel to match the wood-work, but a bedroom set in natural wood could be used if more convenient. The curtains should be of pink chambray or pink denim under white muslin, and it will add to the beauty of the room if the counterpane is made in the same way. A sage-green carpet harmonizes exceedingly well with this scheme of color and gives what one may call a pastel effect to the room.

Discreet.
"Is he a man of discretion?" "Sure. When he writes a letter to a girl whom he addresses as 'Darling Baby' he uses the type machine and doesn't even sign his initials."

Whole Body Raw with Eczema—Life was Intolerable—Was Even Placed in Plaster—Discharged from Hospitals as Hopeless.

SUFFERED 14 YEARS CURED BY CUTICURA

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son Owen's life was made intolerable by eczema in its worst form. He was all right until a red rash broke out on his forehead, but we were not alarmed at first. Very soon, however, the rash broke out on his head and shoulders, and it caused him great discomfort. I took him to a doctor and tried half a dozen other treatments, all with the same result: no improvement at all. The disease gradually spread until finally every part of his body was raw. We had to strap him down in bed, for he used to tear himself dreadfully in his sleep. The agony he went through was beyond words. No one thought we would win. The regimental doctor, a very clever man, pronounced the case hopeless; at least, he said the only hope was that he might die. He lived long enough, outgrow it to some extent. We had him in hospitals four times, but he was not the worst, ever admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable; in fact he got worse under the successive treatments. At one hospital he was put in plaster, and this seemed to aggravate the soreness terribly. He was so badly that no one liked to go near him and his life was a burden to him. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had not almost lost hope for a cure. Six months ago he purchased a box of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resident Pills and persevered with them. The result was marvelous, and today he is perfectly cured, his skin not having a blemish on it. I am, Mrs. J. H. Hedges, 31 Vaughan Road, Coldharbour Lane, Cambleswell Green, Eng. Jan. 12, 1907."

QUESTIONS CONSIDERED

At Meeting of Association County Executive Here Yesterday.

MEET NEXT MONDAY.

New Bank, New Paper, Larger Warehouse, Etc., Talked Of.

Notwithstanding the wretched condition of the roads the county executive committee of the tobacco association was well attended yesterday.

Chairman W. W. Radford was present and presided. Several important questions were considered. Mr. Radford made a talk in which he dwelt upon the question of the members of the association establishing a bank in this city. During the past two months there has been considerable talk about the organization of a bank with a capital of $1,000,000. Mr. Radford said, at the outset that it was "all talk." He discouraged the movement and said that we now have all the banks that are needed. A large percentage of the stock of the five banks is owned by members of the Association, and so far as he is personally concerned the local banks will accommodate farmers with all needed funds. They are carrying him now and have been for years. He did not think it wise for anything to be done along this line. If it had not been for favors extended to him during the past years he couldn't tell where he would be today.

He also dwelt at some length on the somewhat popular idea of the association building a large warehouse for storing its own tobacco. He rather favors building such a house but has no clearly defined ideas as to whether its erection would be a paying investment.

He next spoke of the proposition to establish a newspaper here to watch the interest of the association, but discouraged any attempt at starting such a paper. The association has never done anything of the kind, though a paper claiming the support of the association is being published at Springfield.

Mr. Radford urged that the men who have contracts to prize the tobacco belonging to the association should be required to comply strictly with their contracts, and if any man fails to do this he should be "fired" and a new man installed in his place. He is in favor of everybody doing just what they have contracted to do, and no exceptions made in any case.

Reports from different parts of the county showed that only 25 to 30 per cent of the present crop has been delivered.

The question was asked when the books for pledging the 1908 crop would be opened. The date has been fixed for May first. It was reported that individuals in different sections of the county were exceedingly anxious to get in. Mr. Radford said such persons would have to do the best the could until May—there is nothing else for them to do. If Gov. Willson should make application he could not tell what might be done in this case, but if the President wanted to get in before May first he was certain he would not succeed. Chairman Radford at 1:20 o'clock adjourned the meeting until next Monday. The committee was to meet yesterday at the office of local salesman S. G. Buckner at half past one to examine into cases reported of parties who are buying in the association.

The meeting was harmonious all the way through and showed most conclusively that association affairs are moving along finely.

Before adjournment at noon Judge W. T. Fowler made a short address touching on matters that had already been spoken of by Mr. Radford. Like Mr. Radford he does not believe in the association attempting to establish a bank of its own. He thinks the association should build its own warehouse and that it should be named by association people. As the farmer who owns bank stock has a vote in electing the officials of the bank, so ought he to have a say in the election of members who have the storage of tobacco and getting it ready for the market. Something was said about the association arranging for insuring its own tobacco but this question was not earnestly considered. Judge Fowler did not consider the proposition of starting an association organ here.

Hargis Funeral.

The body of Judge James Hargis was buried Saturday in the family burying grounds on the old Hargis homestead. An enormous crowd was in attendance. Beech Hargis, who killed his father, was brought to the family residence to take a last look at the dead. His mother took him in her arms. It is said that the relatives of Judge Hargis will prosecute the murderer.

Local Leaflets.

Whether you have been there for some time or not, your minister will be glad to see you at church Sunday. Don't patch up an excuse to stay away.

A Carnegie library in Hopkinsville is one of the probabilities. We are glad to say that initial steps toward establishing one here have already been taken and the outlook is encouraging. But it is going to be no half-way effort that will secure it. It will take earnest, persistent work on the part of our people and they will succeed by such effort. Mr. Carnegie is not unapproachable on the subject and will lend his assistance under certain conditions. Let those conditions be complied with.

It is said that black hosiery is fast going out of style. For some unknown reason black was the rage for ten or fifteen years, especially with ladies. Men never particularly liked to wear black, and it is certainly the hottest color in summer; but acid coloring has no doubt done more to drive black hosiery into disuse than anything else.

The milliners are thinking more about spring styles than anything else. Spring is a long way off yet, especially in New York State, where the mercury ran down to 45 degrees below zero last week.

Several of the boys of Co. D. went up to the L. & N. station Thursday morning to see the soldiers who were to be relieved Co. D. of No. 62. The man who reported that the relief was to arrive on that train got his wires crossed and the new soldiers did not get here until Saturday.

Since the morning of December 7 last, Hopkinsville has been advertised in every state in the union. Harper's Weekly of last week contained an illustrated write-up of the invasion; and it was a corker. The most overdrawn thing you ever read. It was a regular "Puck" joke.

That old worn-out brick sidewalk on Ninth street, between Virginia and Clay, is about the worst in town, and yet it is used more, probably, than any other, except on Main.

Only three days until the girlie can take advantage of leap-year and tell her "victim," through St. Valentine, how much she loves him—and "the other fellow," too.

The fire ladders, as we are having no fires now, have to take the horses out for a run every few days for "a constitutional."

A man remarked the other day, "What a fine opening that is between Bassett & Co. and the Keach Furniture Co. for a fine two-dollar-a-day hotel." This "opening" is big enough, but we don't need the hotel as much as we do the business house that was projected, and which we hope may be built soon.

Men never particularly liked to wear black, and it is certainly the hottest color in summer; but acid coloring has no doubt done more to drive black hosiery into disuse than anything else.

There was a big crowd in town Saturday. It was a beautiful spring day and the ladies were out in force.

O, be polite, and call 'em "nocturnal equestrians."

Advertisers made a raid on our advertising space last Saturday. They liked to have captured all of our news space, but we couldn't help it. We hope our readers will charge up the scarcity of news matter to the men who want our readers to know what good things are in store for Kentuckian readers.

Two weddings scheduled for this month, so far and leap year had nothing to do with either of them. One of the marriages occurs on the 19th, but the date for the other has not yet been given. You can do a little guessing. The bride-to-be is one of the most popular and accomplished young ladies in the city.

"The Out of Door Art League" is the name of a ladies' organization in Louisville, whose primary object is to beautify Louisville. Wish they could extend their operations to Hopkinsville. They are now agitating the question of beautifying the railroad terminals in Louisville.

Oranges cheaper than apples. Since the fruit trust controls both fruits, "why is this thus?"

My! What a fine organ they are going to put in the modernized Christian church. But the organ will not be too loud for the building, and they have some mighty fine voices in that church. Music! Yes, all over the house, in the S. S. room, and even down in the basement. Then you will hear the deep base tones of the organ down below, you will think that Mr. Starling must be in the neighborhood. But Mr. Starling has his voice tuned for "the choir (to him as yet) invisible," and will soon be heard again in the choir of the First Presbyterian church, which though the organ is small, furnishes some mighty fine music, when the choir is in tune.

While we are writing about organs, we are reminded that Dr. Jenkins' church are said to have fallen out with their instrument, and will soon take preliminary steps toward getting an instrument suitable to the building and of richer tone. That it will be done we have no doubt. The fact doubt. When that congregation starts out to accomplish an object it succeeds or it will break a trace, and they have never broken a trace yet. So watch out for a big pipe organ up on South Main soon.

And we are reminded again. The Methodist church had an attack of organic fever, so to speak, a few months back, too. We can't help but think that congregation "has something up its sleeve," which may be revealed soon. Those people do things when they get ready, and we have reason to believe that they already have a good-sized organ fund.

But won't there be music on Ninth street when Dr. Smith's organ is turned loose Sunday morning and something like a refrain is heard rolling from that great pipe organ on the Ninth Street Presbyterian church and the loud tones from the Methodist are lifted and borne by the morning breezes down towards Main street to mingle with heavenly notes of instruments and voices filling the ambient air? Keeping open on Sunday. There will be enough sacred music, written by the world's greatest geniuses, to cause a man to forget the gathering of filthy lucre and think only of heavenly things and the hallelujahs of the Eternal City.

MEALS FOR SUNDAY

HOW THE DAY'S LABOR MAY BE LIGHTENED.

Light Breakfast, Fairly Substantial Midday Luncheon, and Chafing Dish Supper Are Sufficient for Family's Needs.

There is much to be said in favor of a light breakfast on Sunday morning and a midday luncheon, or dejeuner, with a hot chafing dish supper at night. The dejeuner can be as satisfying at a dinner and yet consist of such dishes as make it a formal breakfast or luncheon. The things for it can be prepared largely the day before. Of course, it is not like the American breakfast, with cereals, but with fish, chops, cutlets, salad and dessert.

Supposing that a tomato soup comes first in cups, and then sliced chicken laid on some steamed mushrooms. With these potato chips or potato croquettes. Then an apple and celery salad with cheese crackers, and any kind of nice jam with crackers and coffee. The soup may be made the day before and reheated, and the chicken likewise. There is only the trouble of either making the potato chips or reheating same, or making the croquettes. Baked potatoes would answer, or those glazed in slices. Apple and celery salad is soon made. In short, such a meal need not make excessive work.

Here is a good menu for a supper for any benevolent owner where facilities for cooking a full dinner are possible.

Cream of Celery or Tomato Soup
Boiled Fish
Roast Beef
Onions
Fried Oysters with Chateau Sauce
Desserts should be a choice of Mince Pie, Apple Pie, Pumpkin Pie, or Ice Cream and Cake.

Tea. This menu, with the introduction of an apricot ice and the substitution of puddings for some of this pastry, is a typical Philadelphia menu, and was served here recently at a table d'hôte restaurant, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The puddings were tapioca and brown betty. Many of these things would be donated for a church or hospital or prepared beforehand. This would leave the reheating of the celery soup, the roasting of the beef and cooking of the potatoes and onions and oysters, and making of the tea and coffee. Salad and pastry could be brought there ready for use.

Should this menu be used for a home on some of the approaching holidays, then something the same idea of previous preparation could be followed. If the beef course be adopted and the fried oysters and chicken salad omitted, then serve a plain lettuce salad after the beef or serve coleslaw with it. Where given the apricot ice was brought on between the fish course and the beef, so as to refresh the palate, and not to have the apricot ice come too close to the ice cream of the dessert.

Southern Maple Cake. Melt two cups of maple sugar and let it become partly cool, add one cup of honey, one and one-half cups of buttermilk in which has been dissolved a level teaspoon of baking soda; add a pinch of salt, a scant cup of butter, well beaten eggs, flour to make a stiff sponge, spices to suit the taste, one cup of citron and one dozen plums (halved). Dredge the fruit well with flour and add it after the sponge has been thoroughly beaten. Add one cup of preserved gooseberries or currants; pour two inches deep in a pan lined with buttered paper and bake in a slow oven.

Italian Potatoes. Boil the potatoes and mash in the usual way. For each quart of potatoes add four tablespoonsful of sweet cream, four of grated cheese, beaten yolks of two eggs, one tablespoonful of melted butter, salt and taste. Have the potatoes very hot, add the other ingredients and beat to a foam. Lastly add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and beat again. Pile on a platter, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in a quick oven until the top is a delicate brown.

Grape Jam for Invalids. Wash the grapes and take out the seeds. Place the pulp and skins in separate vessels and cook until tender. Put through a colander and get rid of the seeds. To each pint of pulp allow one pound of granulated sugar. Allow another pound for each pint of skins. The juice must be pressed thoroughly out of the skins. Put pulp and juice and sugar together and boil until thick. Add the skins and boil two minutes. Put into jars and seal.

Convenient Floor Mop. Pad with old flannel the sawed-off end of a broomstick. Tack over this a piece of silkoline to make a thick, loose brush (about four yards). As there is no list on it, this makes the finest cleaner imaginable for hard wood floors and baseboards. It is easy to use, no trouble to shake dust out of, and when really soiled it takes only a few minutes to wash and dry.

Potato Entree. Slice thin three medium sized raw potatoes into a baking dish, slice one medium sized onion, put in a layer of potatoes mixed with the onion, a few crackers crumbled over with cheese slices this. Do this until dish is full, then pour over all a little milk, bake

WILL LECTURE.

Mr. J. B. Walker Left To-day for Monticello.

M. C. Rankin, the new Commissioner of Agriculture, has requested J. B. Walker, of this county to deliver two addresses at Monticello, Wayne county, on next Thursday and Friday, during which time C. M. Hanna will conduct a farmers' institute at Monticello.

Mr. Walker did a great deal of work in this line during the incumbency of I. B. Nall and Mr. Vreeland as Commissioners of Agriculture and the invitation coming from Mr. Rankin is a recognition of Mr. Walker's abilities and at the same time shows that the present Commissioner intends not to overlook talent, even though it be found in the Democratic ranks. The two first named Commissioners pursued the same wise course adopted by Mr. Rankin.

Lieut. Gov. Cox is now acting Governor and will be for a week, during the absence of Gov. Willson in Washington.

Patronizing Home People.

An exchange says that war has been declared on the great catalogue houses of Chicago and other cities by the 500 retail merchants of the west. In one of the most striking economic movements this country has ever known the small dealers are fighting, they say, for their lives. The mammoth institutions, employing thousands of workers, doing their business entirely through the medium of their bulky catalogues, spending no money in the communities whence they derive annually millions of dollars of patronage, are forcing incrossing numbers of home merchants to the wall and so their opponents claim, are "making commercial graveyards of once prosperous towns. People living in country towns ought to get wise and trade at home.—Philadelphia Episcopal Recorder.

Advertise What You Have to Sell.

After all that has been said or can be said about the big mail order houses, the simple fact remains that they get the business by thorough and persistent advertising, showing cuts of goods and giving prices. If home merchants would take the same method, much of the trade now going to the mail order houses in cities would come to them. A man we know recently made up a list of tools and hardware from one of the mail order catalogues and took it to a home dealer to get prices. He was surprised to find that he could get the same articles at home for less money and save the express charges, and also see the goods he was buying.—Clearfield (Pa.) Solist.

FOR THE WINDOWS

THEIR TREATMENT AND CARE IN WINTER.

After Being Properly Cleaned, a Preparation Can Be Applied That Will Keep Them Free from Frost and Steam.

Before cleaning windows, remove all the dust. If the paint requires cleaning do this first, taking care not to scrub, as this removes both paint and dirt.

Varnished wood should be rubbed with a piece of chamotte leather wrung out of cold water, and then polished with a soft duster.

For cleaning windows some people use ammonia in the proportion of one tablespoonful to a gallon of water, but the work can be performed quite as efficiently and much more quickly by using clean water and two good chamotte leathers, one for washing the glass and the other for polishing it.

See that the wash leathers are quite clean, and do not make the glass so wet that the water drips from it.

Have plenty of clean water and change it frequently. Dip the chamotte in this and rub the panes, taking care that the corners are not forgotten.

Wring the cloth tightly and go over the surface of the glass a second time. Polish with the other wash leather.

Linen or cotton cloths should not be used, as they frequently leave pieces of down on the glass, especially if used when the latter is not dry.

A window cannot be properly cleaned when the sun is shining on it. During frost the least touch of the hand is liable to crack the glass.

To keep the windows free from frost apply a little glycerine on a dry duster, and a brilliant polish will be the result. This is also excellent for preventing windows from steaming if rubbed on inside of the glass after the windows are cleaned.

If a little kerosene oil is added to the water used for cleaning purposes it will prevent flies from settling on the window, and has the additional merit of giving a clear and brilliant polish.

The brightness of the window panes gives an air of cheerfulness to a house; if these are smoky and dirty one often finds that the housewife is careless and neglectful in other details of household management.

In order that an objectionable view may be shut out, dissolve some opium salts in hot water and make it as strong as possible. Then wash it over the glass while hot with a brush. It will soon cool and deposit the salts in a crystalline form on the window, and when the water has evaporated the panes will be found beautifully frosted.

The windows must be quite covered with the liquid and care must be taken that it does not run or the pattern will be spoiled.

Savings in Old Clothes.

Run a basting thread of contrasting color under your velvet ribbon or folds on wash dresses and when dress is washed in your bath tub it will show you just where to sew your ribbon on again without the trouble of measuring all again. Embroidery or handkerchiefs, which have an open-work edge can be made stronger by crocheting a row of single crochet around. Old dress skirts which are worn around bottom or are too short can be made into petticoats. Wash, cut into a gored pattern (five or seven gores), get some lining to match, put ruffles around bottom, and you have a nice, warm underskirt.

Cucumber Pickle.

A very simple rule for cucumber pickles, which is well worth trying, as it entails very little trouble, is to pare and slice two dozen cucumbers and one dozen small onions. Sprinkle them with salt and allow them to drain well in a colander. Then place them in a bowl, adding one quart of vinegar, one cup of olive oil, one-quarter of a cup each of black and white mustard seed, and one teaspoonful of celery seed, and one-quarter teaspoonful of powdered alum. Mix thoroughly and seal in pint cans.

Cucumber Relish.

To four dozen large cucumbers add one dozen green peppers, two ounces each of white and black mustard seed, three dozen white onions, half a dozen red peppers, and one ounce of celery seed. Chop fine; sprinkle with salt, and let it stand over night. In the morning drain well and boil three quarts of vinegar, one pound of brown sugar, and the spices together. Pour over the cucumbers and put in airtight jars.

Onion Soup.

Into a baking dish put a pound of meat in slices, in layers upon two sliced onions, two sliced carrots, two ounces of rice, and a pint of whole peas that have been soaked over night. Cover with a gallon of water, put pan over dish and put into hot oven four hours. The result is delicious.

Add Apples to Grape Jelly. In making grape jelly one will find that a rich flavor may be obtained by adding eight good sized apples to one basket of grapes. By using three-fourths sugar to one cup of juice jelly will keep longer and not turn to sugar.

Dress Baby on Table.

A small kitchen table or sewing table is a great help in dressing and bathing baby if it is padded and then covered with a removable cover of heavy cotton flannel lined with rubber sheeting.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every 3 minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy, some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. W. I. Bailey, living on east Greenville st., Madisonville, Ky., says: "It is four years since I recommended Doan's Kidney pills through our papers and my confidence in them during the time which has elapsed has not been shaken in the least, on the contrary I learned more about them and can recommend them even more strongly. I said at that time that Mr. Bailey had suffered from kidney complaint off and on for a number of years, and had used almost every known remedy for this trouble but nothing brought permanent results. He finally learned of Doan's Kidney pills and got a box. They benefited him in every way, more so than all the other kidney medicines he had ever tried. He has used them many times during the past four years, and they have never failed to give him relief from these severe attacks. I have used Doan's Kidney pills myself for a weakened condition of the kidneys and they proved just as satisfactory in my case. We both think there is no remedy like Doan's Kidney pills."

ANOTHER PATRICIDE

Chicago Brute Imitates Jim Hargis' Son.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Wilhelm Williams, twenty-two years old, who shot and killed his father, John Williams, last night at their home at 4332 Ashland avenue, died early today at St. Bernard's Hospital.

The tragedy was the result of a quarrel. Both men had been out of employment for several weeks. Yesterday the father returned from a search of work and found the young man at home partially intoxicated. He upbraided his son for not trying to get work, and the son thereupon drew a revolver and shot his father and then turned the weapon on himself.

Brought $235.

Julian Hord, assignee of J. H. Johnson, sold the stock of groceries in the Hord Block last Saturday at auction. The entire stock brought $235. Fountain Meacham was the purchaser.

The small county store of Burns Bros., in south Graves county, was robbed of a barrel of sugar in a unique manner last Friday night.

The robbers crawled under the store, which was about three feet off the ground, and with an auger bored a hole through the floor into the barrel and then let the sugar run out into sacks or buckets. All the sugar in the barrel, except about five pounds, was stolen. There is no clue, although the constables are working on the case.

The 17-year-old son of Marion Green, of the Long Hollow country, is slowly recovering from a severe accident which occurred during the Christmas holidays, and it is now thought that he is out of danger.

He was very seriously hurt, and for several days his life was despaired of. He had bored a hole into a log. After filling the hole with powder, he had driven a peg into the hole, and intended to set it off for the purpose of having a Christmas gun. The fuse was slow in igniting the powder, and he approached to see what was the matter, when the thing exploded, portions of the log striking him about the head, crushing his skull.

Three physicians were called in to attend him.

AMUSEMENTS

Little Frank Deahon, chief magnate of the Nixon & Zimmerman forces and bright particular star of this season's farewell production of Willard Spencer's "Miss Bob White," simply worries and frets himself sick if he fails to equal or "beat" his previous year's business in all the towns of his route.

N. B.—Frank has only worried "twice" so far this season, which, in the vernacular of the street, is "pacing" somewhat. At Holland's Opera House Feb. 19.

"The Lion and the Mouse," the greatest dramatic success the American stage has known, will be presented here Feb. 24, by Henry B. Harris with a company of exceptional strength and every requisite in the way of stage accessories. The play is by Charles Klein and it deals with a theme that has human nature as its keynote, the conspicuous element that Mr. Klein has so vividly pictured representing the influence which the moneyed interests of the country is exerting on the social and financial phases of present day life.

Minstrels Feb. 14.

Billy Kersand's Minstrels will be here Friday night Feb. 14. This troupe has an excellent reputation as a minstrel organization and always plays to a full house.

The February Circle.

The Circle for February abounds in good-cheer articles, progressive in character, and its fiction is as clever as it is interesting. Among the notable contributions for this month's issue are those by Col. Alexander K. McClure, who has given an authoritative study of "Lincoln as a Politician;" David Todd, Professor in Astronomy at Amherst, who, after exhaustive observations, furnishes "More Proof of Life on Mars;" and Edwin Markham, the author of "The Man with the Hoe," who writes on "Poems That Have Moved Humanity."

The February fiction is by Porter Emerson Brown, Harvey O'Higgins, Mary Tracy Earle, Maude L. Radford, and Anne Warner.

MARRIED TO TWO MEN.

Embarrassing Complication Experienced by Memphis Young Woman.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 8.—Elizabeth Nannie Shipp, 19 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shipp, today became the bride of two different men and she and both of the men are tonight wondering whose wife she really is. At 6 o'clock she married Harris Butler. Two and a half hours later she married J. D. Roifes.

Miss Shipp is clinging to Roifes. She is to night in charge of Roifes' grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Mitchell, who states that she is going to hold the girl until the tangle is straightened out. The young woman says that Butler compelled her to marry him, that he forced her into the ceremony and when she got a chance she slipped away and went to Roifes. She says she does not remember having gone through the ceremony; that she was either drugged or fainted and when she came to herself she was told she had been married to Butler. She says that if she was legally married to Butler she will get the marriage annulled and then legally marry Roifes.
